

Production Leadership For Profit

The AICC is offering packaging professionals a two-day training course built to boost your ability to effectively manage people and improve efficiencies on the production floor. This course is perfect for lead operators, supervisors and production managers who are looking to improve their time management and communication skills as well as learn about some of the industry's best production practices. The leadership skills and production tools that will be presented over the two days have been implemented and used by many production personnel throughout the packaging industry with proven results.

Presented by: Scott Ellis and Scott Heilmann of PSquared. PSquared is a multi-disciplined improvement team with expertise in engineering, business management, and organizational psychology. Their approach is to address the policies, procedures and personalities that support the organization. They assess, train, coach, manage, measure and build in accountability systems to ensure that administrative and production best practices endure.

The course is designed to cover six of the key production leadership topics including:

- Leadership Best Practices
- Time Management Skills
- Effectively Measure the Production Process
- How to Build a Visual Workplace
- Critical Communication Skills
- Building in Accountability and Sustainability of Company Best Practices

An added Bonus: The two-day course will be held within a packaging/printing facility so attendees will be able to tour a plant as well as ask questions of key production personnel.
